Introduction

Educational visits are activities arranged by or on behalf of Ivel Valley School & College (IVSC), and which take place outside the school or college grounds. Off-site activities can supplement and enrich our curriculum and provide valuable opportunities for personal development and developing cultural capital. Pupils have the opportunity to undergo experiences not available in the classroom; visits help develop a pupil's investigative skills and longer visits in particular encourage greater independence.

Research shows that children and teenagers with a learning disability partake in fewer activities and participate less frequently than their peers without a learning disability. They also tend to have fewer friends (Solish et al., 2010; Taheri et al., 2016). <https://www.mencap.org.uk/learning-disability-explained/research-and-statistics/friendships-research-and-statistics>

We recognise that educational visits are particularly important for our pupil population, as having a learning disability can impede access to the community. Our pupils deserve to be able to access the community with confidence, and to feel that they belong. The SEND Code of Practice (2015) recognises that our pupils need support to develop their social, emotional and mental health needs; educational visits can provide excellent opportunities to build these skills.

The purpose of this policy

This policy is designed to confirm expectations, provide guidance around planning and ultimately to help ensure that pupils and staff stay safe on visits.

Training

Educational visits at IVSC are overseen by our Educational Visits Coordinators (EVCs), who are Nicola Hudson and Roger Williams. The EVCs must have accessed EVC training from Central Bedfordshire (our local authority - LA), and subsequent re-accreditation courses as required.

When reviewing visit plans, an EVC and the Headteacher must satisfy themselves that staff leading visits are competent to lead the visit and activity. This will be dependent on the individual staff member's training and experience, and the nature of the visit.

Where third party providers are used, the EVC, Headteacher, IVSC staff and LA should be satisfied and seek assurances that activities are led by appropriately trained/qualified and competent individuals.

Nicola Hudson is able to offer 1:1 training for new teachers to ensure that they understand IVSC processes, and that they are able to access an use Evolve effectively, which is an online system used for planning, approval and management of educational visits.

Planning

The planning stages of educational visits is vitally important, and there are a number of elements that staff need to give careful consideration to. Appendix Two shows a flow chart around the key personnel involved in planning, checking and approving a visit. Before getting to this stage, the visit leader must consider the following:

Documentation needed - nominal rolls & field files:

All visit leaders will complete the nominal roll as set out in Appendix One. A copy of this will be left with the school or college office on departure and retrieved on return. The visit leader will keep the nominal roll safely and securely at all times and maintain confidentiality in line with the GDPR policy. A nominal roll must be completed for every single off site visit.

For activities going beyond the local area, visit leaders must prepare a field file. All visit leaders will complete the field file as outlined in Appendix Five. This will be taken on the visit; staff must be informed of the location of this field file, and a copy should be left with a member of SLT remaining on site.

Finance:

Charging for educational visits will be carried out in line with the Charging and Remissions Policy. Staff organising a visit should consult a member of SLT if they have queries around funding a visit.

Insurance:

Insurance is provided through IVSC and by individual providers where relevant. Proof of appropriate insurance is required from external providers where necessary. A copy of providers' insurance certificates will be uploaded to the Evolve system by the visit leader.

Medical needs:

For all visits/activities, there should be a responsible member of staff with a good working knowledge of First Aid appropriate for the activity/environment; one member of staff accompanying any EYFS pupils off site must have a current paediatric first aid certificate. We recognise that it might not be possible to have a First Aid trained member of staff for short, small group visits to the local area. The location of the nearest Accident and Emergency Department should be obtained for all visits/journeys which extend beyond the local area. There are 'travel first aid kits' available from the offices for staff to take with them if they are accessing a venue which is unlikely to have their own first aid supplies, such as visits to a park.

On educational visits, a designated person will be appointed in order to administer medications if required. The 'Supporting Pupils with Medical Conditions policy' must be adhered to.

Medication must only be taken off site in its original container. Relevant medication charts need to be taken out too and completed at the time of administration, not retrospectively when back on site. Where appropriate, staff must ensure that pupils have immediate access to asthma inhalers during sporting activities. Emergency medication must be taken on all visits.

Permissions:

On entry to Ivel Valley, families complete permissions booklets regarding local area visits and some other routine activities. Visit leaders must check these details before arranging to take pupils on visits. Parents/carers will be provided with full information of all potential routine visits for the duration of the year, and they must be fully informed of the details of non-routine visits/journeys - they are able to withdraw consent if they wish to.

Risk assessment:

An accurate understanding of risk is key to ensuring safe, successful visits. The welfare of pupils, staff and volunteers is always paramount. IVSC recognises that no educational visit is without risk, however, the benefits of the visit must outweigh the risk.

Visit leaders must carefully consider all activities for the duration of their educational visit. Thorough risk assessments must be produced for all activities that pupils, staff and volunteers may undertake. Visit leaders will seek to minimise risk and reduce it to acceptable levels. A risk assessment format is provided by IVSC; if this is not suitable for the activity, the visit leader will need to contact the EVC. The appropriateness and effectiveness of risk control/mitigation measures will be evaluated and quality assured by the EVC and the Headteacher.

Generic risk assessments are available for some regular activities such as travel on the school minibuses and swimming at the local pool. These generic risk assessments will be reviewed by the visit leader whenever they are used. Adaptations will be made to generic risk assessments where necessary.

Risk assessments must be uploaded to Evolve, along with a visit itinerary two weeks prior to the date of the planned visit, and all staff supporting the visit must have read the risk assessment.

Where practical, staff may make a preliminary visit to the trip destination as part of the planning and risk assessment process.

The visit leader will maintain an overview of the risk associated with visits during the visit itself. This 'dynamic risk assessment' must happen throughout the visit.

Staff have a responsibility to raise any concerns about safety of visit participants with the visit lead immediately. They should telephone the visit emergency contact or IVSC office if they feel that their concerns are not being dealt with appropriately.

Supervision:

We recognise that different pupils within Ivel Valley will require very different levels of supervision. The overall responsibility for deciding appropriate staffing levels rests with the Headteacher. The staffing ratios and the pupil/staff ratios will be decided for each visit/journey according to circumstances (for example age/ability/nature of activity/mode of transport/staff experience etc.) and in line with the visit leader's risk assessment.

The Early Years Foundation Stage Framework states that a teacher and a member of staff with a current paediatric first aid certificate must accompany any EYFS off-site activity.

If staff are considering lone working with a pupil in the community, they must consult the lone working risk assessment for further guidance, available on the Risk Assessment Google Drive.

Supplies needed:

Visit leaders should carefully consider in advance any supplies required to take with them, including (but not limited to):

- Staff mobile phones
- Calming activities or resources, or motivating items that support positive behaviour
- Any supplies needed to meet personal care needs
- Medication needed (see section above)
- Any alternative & augmentative communication (AAC) devices that pupils need access to
- Food / drink requirements. The kitchen manager can provide packed lunches for pupils eligible for Free School Meals; this must be arranged in advance. Families must be given reasonable notice to organise packed lunches if required.

Transport:

Visit leaders must carefully consider all logistics for transport:

- If using the minibus, guidelines for use must be adhered to. Visit leaders must ensure that they have enough vehicles available, enough trained drivers joining them on the visit, and they might need to pre-arrange the configuration of the minibuses to ensure space for any wheelchair users.
- Staff cars can be used as a last resort; IVSC insurance will cover this. Unless specific clearance is obtained from the Headteacher, there must be a second member of staff in the car.
- If the visit involves trains, staff will need to consider whether any accessibility requirements need to be pre-arranged.
- If transporting abroad by coach, ship or plane, further advice should be sought from the LA via Evolve.

Behaviour expectations

The welfare of pupils, staff and volunteers is paramount. Good behaviour and proactive positive behaviour support (PBS) ensure that educational visits are safe and successful. If behaviour of a pupil falls short of IVSC's behaviour policy or behaviour support measures prove ineffective, the pupil will be returned to school / college to ensure their safety and the safety of others.

Unless an educational visit is specifically recognised as a 'reward', we would not expect withdrawal from a visit to be used as a punitive measure. Individual circumstances should be discussed with the Positive Behaviour Support Lead Practitioner.

Some pupils will be known to find elements of educational visits challenging. This does not mean that we shouldn't afford them the same opportunities as their peers, rather this must be considered in the visit risk assessment, and there must be appropriate supports put in place, such as working with known staff who are familiar with their PBS plan, and having standby options to help the pupil return safely to school / college. Some pupils might find elements of educational visits anxiety-inducing or overwhelming. Personalised support should be in place to help prepare pupils, such as social stories or 1:1 discussions, and staff should carefully consider - supported by discussions with families - whether the visit is likely to cause unnecessary distress to the pupil.

If a member of staff or volunteer breaks the staff code of conduct, the visit leader will contact a member of the senior leadership team immediately.

IVSC staff and volunteers are not permitted to consume any alcohol whilst on educational visits, including during residential visits.

IVSC recognises that all pupils should be allowed the opportunity to engage in age-appropriate activities. College students over the age of 18 are therefore permitted to purchase alcohol with the agreement of staff and their parent/carers whilst on a residential visit. However, this must be in moderation and IVSC reserves the right to prevent adult students purchasing alcohol at any time on a residential visit. Students who purchase or consume alcohol without the express permission of the visit leader will be sent home immediately.

Emergency situations

Emergency procedures must be discussed at the planning stage of each visit/journey.

The visit leader must have a charged mobile phone and the Ivel Valley office number saved. The phone must be switched on at all times with a charger for overnight stays. We generally advise all staff on educational visits to carry their own mobile phone with them in case of emergency during educational visits.

Where an accident or incident occurs on an activity, this must be reported in line with IVSC reporting procedures. It is also good practice to report near misses to inform future planning.

Visit leaders will ensure that they have a copy of the Emergency Card in Appendix Four when leading trips and visits. This card will be used in the event of an emergency.

In the unlikely event of a terrorist attack, staff and pupils should follow the RUN HIDE TELL guidance, which can be applied to many situations and places. More information can be found here:

Equalities & inclusion

Staff are expected to take all reasonably practicable measures to include all pupils / students in appropriate learning outside of the classroom. Ivel Valley is committed to equal opportunities and supporting all pupils to access educational visits. No pupil, member of staff or volunteer will be prevented from participating in an educational visit due to a protected characteristic as defined by the Equality Act 2010. All educational visits are evaluated for accessibility and inclusion and we will always consider reasonable adjustments.

Safeguarding implications

The planning and preparation of educational visits must include measures to safeguard children, young people and accompanying staff from harm. If a member of staff has concerns about the welfare of a pupil or the behaviour of another member of staff/volunteer, they must share their concerns in line with the IVSC safeguarding policy.

IVSC has a high staff to pupil ratio so volunteers are rarely required for educational visits. However, where volunteers are required for a visit the visit leader, EVC and Headteacher will ensure that the volunteer is suitable to work with vulnerable children and young people in line with the safeguarding policy. Visit leaders will not allow volunteers to engage in regulated activity when on educational visits.

The visit lead must take regular headcounts and/or roll calls.

This information must remain with the Visit Leader at all times

In the event of an incident or accident that does not involve serious injury or fatality, and/or is not likely to attract media attention, the Visit Leader should seek advice from the IVSC emergency contact(s). This should normally include a member of SLT.

In the event of an incident that does involve serious injury or fatality, and/or is likely to attract media attention, the Visit Leader should adopt the following protocol:

- 1 Assess the situation
- 2 Safeguard uninjured members of the group (including self)
- 3 Attend to the casualties (if applicable)
- 4 Call emergency services (999 or appropriate local number if abroad), if appropriate

Then:

- Contact the IVSC Emergency Contact (see below) and seek further advice. The Emergency Contact will request the help of the Duty Emergency Planning Officer (DEPO),- or you may do this yourself directly (see below)
- Contact the British Consulate / Embassy if abroad
- If practicable, delegate party leadership to a deputy visit leader, in order that you can be contactable at all times, and to enable you to coordinate all necessary actions
- Seek further and full details of the incident, how and why it happened so far as can be established at this stage
- Maintain a detailed written log of all actions taken and conversations held, together with a timescale
- Prevent group members from using telephones or mobiles, or going on-line until such time as this has been agreed by the LA
- Refer all press, media, parental, or other enquiries to the Central Bedfordshire Council Press Office on 0300 300 8701 or 07825 034787 outside of office hours

If you are unable to make contact with the School Emergency Contact(s), phone the Duty Emergency Planning Team on:
